The world's special people:

There are those special people around the world who are collectively known as 'unsung heroes' whose purpose in life is to serve their fellow man even though they themselves have to pass through difficult times to do so. One such 'hero' is a Burundian refugee called

Francois Nitunga, pictured right. His commitment to his own people is in itself remarkable, but that this level of commitment has remained steadfast over many years when Francois and his family have themselves had to suffer greatly, themselves being refugees and through lack of finance, sickness and tragedy makes his story all the more inspiring.

Francois' story appears below along with an opportunity to support him and the work that he is doing for his people.

Strategic for the nation's re-structuring.

It has been said that 'there are those who make things happen, those who watch things happen and those who wondered what happened'. Francois Nitunga is one of those who makes things happen. Armed only with a strong faith that God is with him and a passion for his own people he has tirelessly served in the refugee camps and in the war torn country of Burundi to find ways of reconciling the divided people and dealing with their suffering. Land disputes and few resources was on the daily agenda of this tireless worker, now Francois wishes to return to Burundi with his family but needs a place to stay since his original home was sacked and burned as he ran to safety with many thousands of his people from the trauma of genocide and prolonged war. With your help we can now place this man and his family securely in the centre of the theatre of service where he needs to be to best serve his people. His small plot of land in Burundi is legally his but his house is in ruins, together we can help him to rebuild and re-establish his family and mission in life.

An Ambassador to his people.

Although coming from humble beginnings, Francois is willing to take every opportunity to describe the plight of his people in the hope that he will be able to identify support as well as plead their case before those who might be able to help. Now that the refugees are beginning to return to Burundi from Refugee camps in Democratic republic of Congo, Tanzania and Uganda, where Francois has found ingenious ways of supporting them and has visited and stayed with them over the long years of languishing in a foreign country in horrible living conditions, it is time for him to deal with the issues of resettlement and reconciliation. Francois continues to work hard for the Burundian people.
